

Find all corporate information quickly and easily using iPLATINUM iFerret...

The only purpose built turnkey search solution for Australian enterprises

Organisations have long realised that there is a wealth of information which is not used adequately because staff either don't know the information exists or have trouble accessing that information. This is where iPLATINUM iFerret excels. Its core search engine technology helps deliver greater accessibility to information across all the corporate digital information.

As intuitively as searching in Google, any user can now find any piece of information which they have permission to access, whether that information is in a document management system, corporate application, email, email archive, sharepoint, teams, onedrive or network drives.

Both structured and non-structured information becomes quickly and easily accessible through a single user interface with no need to log in to multiple complex corporate applications.

“Over the past few years, the pace and volume of work have only increased. On any given workday, our heaviest users search for what they need 18 times, receive over 250 Outlook emails and send or read nearly 150 Teams chats. Teams users globally are in three times more meetings each week than they were in 2020. And on Windows, some people use 11 apps in a single day to get work done.”
